KINSTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Furnished by Chamber of Commerce.

Kinston is situated in the fertile valley of the navigable river Neuse and is the county seat of Lenoir County, which is a part of the North Coastal plain of the State. Kinston is thirteen hours from Washington, D. C., four hours from Wilmington, three hours from Raleigh, and nine hours from Richmond, Va. Kinston is in the heart of the North Carolina bright tobacco belt and is easily accessible from all directions.

Population.—99 per cent American by U. S. census. City population, 1923, including suburbs, 13,000. City proper, U. S. census:

|------------------------|--------|
| 1923..... | 10,772 |
| 1910..... | 6,995 |
| 1900..... | 4,106 |
| 1890..... | 1,726 |
| County population..... | 30,000 |

Climate, Altitude and Health.—Average mean temperature, 62.4 degrees. Average annual rainfall, 43.73 inches. Altitude, 47 feet. Soil well drained. Health conditions excellent. Sanitary laws up-to-date.

Valuation and Taxation.—Total assessed valuation (1921): City, $11,220,000; county, $27,000,000; total, $38,220,000. Real estate and personal property assessed at actual value.

Tax Rates.—1923:

|-----------------------------------|--------|
| State and county..... | $1.25 |
| City (all specials included)..... | 1.37 |

Total..... $2.62 per 100

Streets and Roads.—Kinston has 12 miles of concrete-asphalt streets, one-half mile brick streets; total, 12½ miles paved streets. Kinston has 28 miles paved sidewalks. Lenoir County has 70 miles of concrete-asphalt roads, all 16 to 18 feet wide; five roads all leading from Kinston to the county lines. $2,750,000, or $100.00 per capita was the cost of these.

Schools.—Educational advantages are well up to the standard. Seventy-one well trained teachers instruct the 2,500 boys and girls attending the city's modern educational institutions. A recent bond issue for $300,000 will provide facilities not eclipsed by any city of similar size in the State. The Caswell Training School, a State institution for mental delinquents, is located two miles from Kinston. The plant, entirely modern in every respect, represents an investment of $800,000.00. More than $400,000.00 will be spent in enlarging the plant during the next few months.

Churches.—Nearly all religious denominations are represented with handsome temples of worship. There are thirteen churches for white people and eleven for colored, all of which reflects the religious aspect of the citizens of Kinston.

Hospital.—The Parrott Memorial Hospital, a private owned institution, strictly modern in all its appointments, amply provides for the care of the sick. Its corps of physicians, assistants and nurses are the best to be secured.

Amusements.—The golf club, with its nine-hole course, Lakeside and Hill Crest, furnish amusement for old and young. All are within easy reach of the city. The Grand Theatre provides high class motion pictures, drama, comedy and vaudeville.

Fire Protection.—Kinston is afforded ample fire protection, its equipment consisting of two motor companies, two hook and ladder companies, and two reel teams, all served by trained volunteer firemen, under the direction of a trained fire chief. Additional equipment is contemplated in the near future which will place the city's fire-fighting equipment beyond the requirements.

Water.—Kinston is supplied entirely from artesian wells, analysis proving the supply to be the best east of the Rocky Mountains.

Hotels.—Adequate facilities are furnished for the traveling public by Kinston's leading hotels, the Tull and the Caswell, augmented by several smaller hostleries.

Chamber of Commerce.—Kinston's civic and commercial organization ranks with those of the most progressive cities of its size. Its membership is composed of the most progressive, intelligent and wide-awake citizens. The Chamber is at the command of all desiring worthy assistance and information concerning the welfare of the nation, State, Lenoir County and Kinston. It will co-operate with any earnest movement for the improvement of the citizenship and to promote business. The Kinston Merchants Association, comprised of the leading merchants, to promote trade and foster the welfare of the community, works hand in hand with the Chamber of Commerce in all civic and commercial problems.

Financial.—Kinston has four banks; two are national banks, one banking and trust company, and one State bank. There are also two banks operated by negroes. Their condition is not reported in the following:

|--|---------------|
| Total capital and surplus (April 3, 1923)..... | $ 646,013.00 |
| Total deposits..... | 2,930,350.04 |
| Total resources..... | 3,986,107.99 |

The Mutual Building and Loan Association.—Furnishes the means for the construction of many residences in the city.

| | | | |
|---------------------------------------|--------------|--------------------------------|-------|
| Amount paid in..... | $125,918.25 | Shares in force..... | 5,137 |
| Mortgage loans..... | 147,875.00 | No. shares in last series..... | 758 |
| Stock loans..... | 12,415.00 | Maturity of shares about | |
| Undivided profits (Jan. 1, 1923)..... | 10,717.50 | (months)..... | 76 |

Post Office Receipts.—$40,000.00. Seven rural free deliveries and five city deliveries accommodate the patrons of the Kinston post office.

Light and Power is furnished to the users in the city from a modern, municipally-owned plant. Ample current is available for a city three times the size of Kinston. An addition to the plant costing $300,000.00 has just been put into operation. The rates for all purposes are the lowest to be found in Eastern North Carolina and are based on a sliding scale. For power users the rates are as low as two cents per K. W. H.

Transportation.—Four railroad lines serve the city—the Norfolk-Southern, Atlantic Coast Line, Kinston-Carolina, and the Carolina, providing connections in all directions. River transportation to the coast is available to small craft.

Wholesalers and Jobbers.—Kinston's wholesale territory covers a radius of twenty-five miles and is served by six wholesale grocery and produce and two wholesale fruit and produce establishments. The territory embraces an estimated population of 60,000 to 75,000 people.

Cotton and Tobacco Market.—More tobacco is brought to Kinston by truck and wagon to be sold than on any other market in the State. The total sales on the Kinston market during the 1921-22 season were 18,211,618 pounds, the average price being $23.54 per hundred against $18.80 the previous year. Although there are only 11,000 bales of cotton produced in the county, 20,000 bales are sold on the Kinston market annually.

Retail.—The fertile farming section, made tributary to Kinston by four rail lines and an excellent system of asphalt roads, and the city itself, have united to make excellent retail facilities. Kinston's retail district, covering ten city blocks, offers to purchasers high class and popular priced merchandise.

Agriculture.—Lenoir County as a whole is one of the most fertile counties in the State. The equable climate and soil permit the growing of any crop adapted to temperate climates. Tobacco, with a production of 12,000,000 pounds, leads, followed by cotton, with 11,000 bales. Corn, potatoes (Irish and sweet), live stock, small grains and hay are produced abundantly at a low cost. Truck and other crops are well adapted to soil and climate. Progress in agriculture has been most marked. Total value of principal farm products (U. S. Census, 1919), $10,870,000.00.

Industrial.—More than fifty industries are located in Kinston, representing a total investment of four million dollars, a combined output of seven and three-quarter million dollars, and an annual payroll of one and a half million dollars. Among these are five tobacco factories, two cotton mills, a hosiery mill, three lumber plants, a large construction company, three ice plants, three ice cream plants, a fertilizer plant, three soft drink bottling plants, brick mills, iron and mantel works, overall factory, meat packing plant and numerous smaller manufacturies.

Clubs and Organizations.—There are thirty-seven clubs, organizations and fraternal societies in the city, twenty-five for white and twelve for colored people. These include the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants Association, Golf Club, American Legion, Kinston Baseball Club and a chapter of practically every fraternal organization.

Newspapers.—Two dailies and one semi-weekly stand always ready to assist any movement for progress and development of the city and county, and they have many times proven their ability in this regard.

Opportunities.—Kinston offers ideal opportunities to parties desiring suitable locations for cotton mills, lumber and veneer plants, and any other industries using as raw material agricultural and forest products. The Kinston Chamber of Commerce invites correspondence with those contemplating the establishment of such industries and stands ready at all times to assist in any way possible.
